SONOMA, SONOMA COUNTY, CAL., JUNE 3, 1911.

NO. 48

SEQUOIA PARLOR PRESENTS SONOMA WITH BEAR FLAG.

It is a Beautiful Emblem 6x10 Feet—Presentation Made by Richard D. Barton of the Parlor and Accepted by Mayor Cummings on Behalf of City.

Raised in Sonoma by Bear Flag Party
June, 1846

Unfurled to the Breeze
by Sequoia Parlor
May, 1911.

Sequoia Parlor, No. 160, N. S. G. W. of San Francisco, took the old town by storm Sunday, the occasion being the annual outing of the Parlor, our historical little city having been chosen by the members of the Parlor as a most fitting place for a day's enjoyment in the country.

A special train bearing the Natives and their ladies arrived on the Northwestern Pacific at 11 o'clock in the forenoon and after proceeding to Lawrence Villa Park, where they enjoyed their picnic, the visitors spread out and viewed the various points of interest, and there are many of them, in our historical town. They visited the original Bear Flag pole, the ancient Mission San Francisco de Solano, the adobe barracks facing the plaza where were quartered in the early fifties "Fighting Joe Hooker of Lookout Mountain" fame and other U. S. army officers who afterward became famous generals in the Civil War. The home place of the illustrious General Vallejo, the old adobe building on Spain street where the first lodge of Free and Accepted Masons ever met in Sonoma county and other places intimately associated with the early history of California.

The Natives during their brief stay here also inspected the New City Hall, the Masonic Temple and other features of the modern Sonoma.

In the afternoon the members of Sequoia Parlor, headed by its President S. Westfall and Recording Secretary Richard D. Barton, together with other visitors, wended their way to the city hall, where they were received and welcomed by Mayor M. E. Cummings, and other town officials.

Then here is where the surprise came in.

Mr. Barton, the Secretary of Sequoia Parlor, carrying a large and beautiful Bear Flag in his arms, then stepped forward and commanding silence, in a fitting speech presented the emblem to the City of Sonoma on behalf of his Parlor.

Mayor Cummings, in a happy vein, accepted the flag on behalf of the city. He explained to those present that the baldrics of the Bear Flag pole were out of gear and that the flagstaff on the cupola of the city hall would be substituted to unfurl the emblem, which is 6x10 in size, to the breeze. This was done by President Westfall amid much enthusiasm.

Among those present none took a keener interest in the impromptu little ceremony than Mr. Barton, who is one of the leading Native Sons of the metropolis. It was a proud day for him, as owing to his efforts more than to any other one man in California that the Bear Flag emblem was adopted by the last legislature as the State's flag.

A Relic of the Los Guilecos Boom Days

Judgment for dismissal was entered in the Superior Court of this county Monday in the ancient civil suit of the Anglo-Californian Bank Limited vs. Norman J. Griswold, et al. The case had been on the calendar for thirteen years and was the outcome of the failure of Griswold, the erstwhile booster for the town of Kenwood, which was destined to become an inland city of importance but which failed to materialize. It is still on the map and that is about all that can be said of the town which is laid out in one of the prettiest vales in all California.

Episcopal Services

The regular morning service will be held in Castagnaccio Hall at 11 a. m. Rev. T. P. Boyd of Vallejo officiating.

ARRESTED FOR GRAND LARCENY

John Verdier, Who Hails From San Francisco, Was Arrested
Here Sunday

John Verdier, was arrested here Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan on a warrant sworn out in a Justice's court in the metropolis, charging him with grand larceny. The warrant was sworn to by a lady friend of Verdier's, who claimed he had stolen a quantity of jewelry from her. After taking the man into custody officer Ryan searched him and found the stolen property upon him, with the exception of a $10 gold piece which had been set in the bracelet. This he had gouged out and spent. Besides the bracelet three diamond rings and a lady's gold watch and chain were found upon the accused.

Officer Ryan turned his prisoner over to two detectives from San Francisco who took him to that city Monday to answer for his crime.

Tour of Inspection by City Trustees

The Board of City Trustees visited Santa Rosa and Sebastopol last Thursday to inspect the septic tank sewer systems of those cities. A run was also made to Petaluma to have a look at the rock crushing plant at that place. The trip was made in a large touring car.

As contracts have been let by the City Trustees for a septic tank sewer system and a municipal rock crushing plant the Trustees desire to inform themselves thoroughly on these matters to the end that Sonoma will get what it pays for when these improvements will have been turned over to them by the contractors.

YOUNG JOY RIDER IS UNDER ARREST

Says He Playfully Attempted to Knock Man's Hat Off—But Nearly Got His Head Instead

A party of five rollicking blades, hailing from Vallejo and bent on having a good time, while taking in the valley last Sunday in a touring car, got into trouble while passing Boyes Springs, which led to the arrest of one of them by Deputy Sheriff Ryan.

It appears, while speeding up the valley one of the party observed an old man walking along the road near Boyes. He playfully threw out his arm to knock the man's hat off. The aim of the joker was poor, however, and missing the hat the man was knocked unconscious by a terrific blow on the side of the head, the momentum of the machine giving additional force to the blow. This is about the substance of the story told by the offender when placed under arrest in Vallejo by the officer.

The accused was taken before a Vallejo Justice of the Peace and released on a cash bond of $50 to answer in Judge Campbell's court in this city on Friday, June 2d, on a charge of assault sworn to by his victim, who tells an entirely different story.

Congressman Kent Will Send You Seeds

The annual allotment of seeds to Members of Congress by the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been made. Congressman Kent has received a letter from Chief of the Bureau stating that plans have been perfected for the congressional distribution of seeds and plants for the next season, and that he has been allotted 20,000 packages of vegetable seeds and 2,000 packages of flower seed. In order that none of these seeds may be wasted by being sent to people who either cannot or do not wish to use them, Mr. Kent has decided not to send out the seeds indiscriminately as is the common practice, but to send them only on application. The readers of this paper who desire seeds, either vegetable or flower, for their own use are requested to send their names and addresses to Congressman Kent, House office building, Washington, D. C., with a request for seeds, stating the variety, quality and quantity desired. These requests will be filled in the order as they are received and as long as the allotment lasts.

There ought to be a good representation from Sonoma and vicinity as the meeting will be an important one and will have much to do with improving the roads throughout the county.

The Farmer's Boy.

Our attention has been called to a meeting of the presidents of twenty of the nation's largest corporations held in New York recently, and of those present twelve of the twenty were boys who had been reared on the farm. When the youngster on the farm gets the blues and fancies that there is no longer the chance that there used to be to rise above the monotony and drudgery of a tiller of the soil, he can think of those twelve captains of industry who started as he is starting and remember that when they were boys there were times when they, too, imagined that it was a hopeless ambition to aspire to win their way to the front in the city.

He wants to remember that the farm has evolved some of the world's greatest men and some of its most conspicuously useful ones and that with the increasing activities of the nation in all directions there is now, more than ever, room at the top for the exceptional man.

In contemplation of the stirring achievements of the farmer's boy, past and present, if he has imagination and soul he will find helpful inspiration when the day seems dark and the future full of gloom. Let him recollect, as the world usually does, that it was the farm that gave us Abraham Lincoln, one of the world's most majestic figures; that gave us Andrew Jackson, Millard Fillmore, the martyred Garfield, Horace Greeley, Sir Isaac Newton and the brilliant Carlyle. It was a farmer's son, Eli Whitney, who created the cotton gin, which laid the foundation for the growth of the cotton industry, now worth nine hundred million dollars a year to the United States, and a farmer's boy, Elias Howe, who emancipated women from the slavery of the needle by inventing the sewing machine.

Long before Robert Fulton sailed his steamboat up the Hudson river John Fitch, the ingenious product of a Pennsylvania farm, demonstrated that a boat could be propelled by steam by equipping a skiff with an engine and with its aid sailed his craft up the Delaware. Another brainy farmer's boy, Oliver Evans, sometimes called the Watt of America, was the first to build and operate a locomotive in this country. Cyrus McCormick, the inventor of the reaper, the whirl of which is today heard 'round the earth, was the modest son of an ordinary Illinois farmer. The first machine to make tacks was the creation of a Massachusetts farm lad, Thomas Blanchard, and the device that furnished the world with the modern screw was the work of a poor Vermont genius, Thomas Harvey, a quiet, thoughtful farmer's son. To the resourcefulness of an Ohio farm lad, Charles F. Brush, who invented the dynamo, the world is indebted for its present day great industrial and power plants that give employment to millions of hands. Thomas A. Edison, most brilliant of the world's inventors, sponsor for the electric light, the phonograph and a hundred other devices, was the son of a poor farm laborer. K. M. Turner, inventor of the acousticon, the dictograph and the interior telephone bearing his name, now universally used, when not engaged on his father's Indiana farm, used to hire himself out to neighboring farmers at 25 cents a day seeding corn, at which he was acclaimed an expert. From a Wisconsin farm came C. L. Shoules, the inventor of the typewriter, which revolutionized the business methods of the world.

Where service is the only credential that commands recognition and a man's ability must square with his responsibility the farmer's boy who has hearkened to the call of the big city will be found today in the front rank of the world's useful workers in every large city on the face of the earth. For he makes good and the world needs him.

A Sane Fourth for Sonoma

Sonoma is to have a sane fourth. An ordinance passed by the City Trustees at its June meeting prohibits the sale of fire works, bombs, etc., by our merchants, as well as the discharge of cannon and fire arms. This will not be to the liking of Young America but it will save their eye brows or a thumb or two and a may prevent a disastrous conflagration in our midst. The passage of the ordinance was a wise move on the part of our City Dads.

FREAKS OF NATURE.

Two Queer Rock Formations on the Island of St. Helena.

There are at least two queer freaks of nature on the island of St. Helena—or, rather, four, for one of them is a group of three figures—known to the world over as the "Devil's Nose" and "Lot and His Daughters." Any one who is able to study the island as it is and not run wild over the Napoleonic legends which have clustered about that "sea-bound rock" since the days when the "Little Corporal" was housed there in his living grave will find much that will repay for investigation, time and study.

The queerest of the natural formations are the oddities above alluded to. The first of these imitative forms is a rocky promontory which has been known by names which signify Old Nick's nasal projection since May 22, 1802, when Juan Castella and his men sighted the island just in time to see the devil disappear beneath the waves in the best harbor, leaving his nose as a reminder of what might happen should the venturesome Spaniard seek to take possession of his Satanic majesty's favorite haunts.

"Lot and His Daughters" are three conical rocks which can only be conjured into representing a man and two women by a strong play of the imagination. According to the views of some writers they are weather worn statues of colossal size, probably the work of some aborigines of the island. Their gigantic size, however, would seem to preclude this idea. When or by whom they were dubbed "Lot and His Daughters" no authority has ventured to say.

CONJURING BIRDS.

Trick Sparrows of Hongkong and One of Their Feats.

The famous Chinese conjuring birds are Java sparrows. At street corners in Hongkong sedate old Chinese may be seen putting the birds through their tricks for the benefit of strangers.

Each birdcage has a sliding door, and just outside this is a pack of little cardcases, each containing a picture and a small pot holding half a dozen grains of rice.

When the stranger, pursuant to the suggestion of the owner, hands over the necessary coin this is placed with the pack of cards at the cage door. Then the owner will undo the fastening of the door. The bird, eying the coin, then the cards, then the coin again, as if he thought his performance too cheaply valued, descends from his perch, opens the door with his beak, hops outside, draws a card from the pack and passes it to his master. He receives in reward one grain of rice.

The man takes the little picture from the case received from the bird and hands it to the stranger to inspect. He then returns it to the case, accompanied by the tiniest flat slip of bamboo, and shuffles the case up with the rest of the pack. The bird descends and selects a case, and the stranger opens it, to find the identical one containing the bamboo.

How can this be accounted for? The only possible way of explaining is that the bamboo slip is slightly scented.—Exchange.

*Rough on the Pianos.

Once in the company of President Diaz I spent a few nights in the Mexican earthquake zone as the guest of the governor of the state. As a measure of precaution the plaster ceilings of our sleeping rooms had been replaced with strips of matched boarding. "If a trembler should come in the night, son," remarked my host as he was bidding me good night, "wait for nothing, but make straight for the pulpit. I think these boards will hold until you get from under cover." And that evening, when I took the governor's wife out to dinner, she had remarked sadly: "We are so beleaguered here in the hot lands. It is impossible even to have music, for no sooner do I have my grand piano tuned than an earthquake comes and tips it over."—E. Alexander Powell, F. R. G. S., in Everybody's.

Origin of the Opera.

The opera, like nearly everything else interesting in the world of mind, had its origin in ancient Athens. The earliest librettos were by Sophocles and Aeschylus, such as the "Abamemnon" and "Antigone," a band of flutes and lyres constituting the orchestra, the dialogues being musically declaimed and the choruses sung to the best music of the time. Thus do we have the germ of all later developments in the line of opera.—Exchange.

Enforcing the Rule.

The passenger with the huge square package persisted in riding on the rear platform of the car.

"What have you got there?" demanded the conductor.

"It's a painting of Mount Vesuvius—if you think you have to know," said the passenger.

"Well, you'll have to take it to the front platform," said the conductor. "No smoking is allowed back here."—Chicago Tribune.

Exchange of Courtesies.

"Mornin', Griggs."
"Mornin', Griggs."
"I hope you're enjoying good health."
"You don't suppose I could enjoy poor health, do you?"
"You could if you were a new doctor in a strange community. Mornin'."
"Mornin'."—Chicago Tribune.

Responsibility walks hand in hand with capacity and power.—Timothy Titecomb.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

VINEBURG NEWS AND PERSONALS

"Easy Jim" Tells of the Week's Happenings in His Section

Mr. Adolph Lutgens of San Francisco was a visitor to Vineburg Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Batto and Miss Mary Batto were visitors at Boyes Springs last Friday afternoon.

The good old summer time is now here and Dan Cupid is getting busy. Keep up the good work Dan.

Will it rain, will it shine, will it be warm this summer time? For information regarding this matter apply to Tillie Tipton.

The Northwestern Pacific has completed the new depot at Buena Vista and hereafter it will not be called the "Hobo's Retreat."

Four trains passed through here Sunday, three locals and a special, which did not stop. Who says Sonoma Valley is not a good place to spend a vacation?

During the month of May, 18 cars of freight were switched in on the Batto spur near here—grain, foodstuffs and general merchandise. Is Vineburg improving?
Sure, Mabel.

Mrs. August Figone of San Francisco was a guest at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Batto, the latter part of last week.
Her two children Ernest and Norma accompanied her.

The Altimira social and sewing club held a meeting at the residence of Mesdames Studley on Wednesday afternoon, May 24th, at Buena Vista, and after spending a delightful afternoon they departed well pleased with their reception.

Johnnie Wilson of Locust Grove paid a visit to his old friend Jim Small at Batto's spur last Sunday.
These ex-amateur minstrels who years ago were wont to volunteer their services for public benefits in Sonoma, had a heart-to-heart talk which may lead to an advance in burnt cork.

Last Friday evening a surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs.
Albert Bird at their beautiful home "Oakcroft" on the Hyde tract. The following guests enjoyed the pleasure of their company: Mesdames Bird, Walker, Peison, Derix, Wadsworth, Gerty,
and Marie Mitchell. Messrs. Bird, Walker, Derix, Roderer, Girty,
Peison and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Roderer. All report it a most enjoyable affair.

CONTRACTS LET FOR SEWER SYSTEM

The Construction Work Will Be Done by J. F. O'Brien, of San Francisco for $6,176.38.

The contracts for the construction of a sewer system for Sonoma have been let and the actual work will be well under way within the next thirty days.

J. F. O'Brien, of San Francisco, bid $6,176.38 on the construction work and received the contract for same, while the Windsor Pottery Works of Alameda county will furnish the pipe, its bid being $393.60.

This sewer system when completed will be a valuable asset to our community and will show in no little degree the rapid strides which we are taking in upbuilding the city.

being a constitutional disease, requires a

REFRESHMENTS.

LOW CASTE MANGS.

Hindus Not Only Despise Them, They Fear and Hate Them.

By his fellow Hindu the Mang, one of the lowest of all Indian castes, is not only despised, but even feared and hated. A writer in the Times of India says: "To be cruel is to be 'Mang' hearted;" to fly into a passion may be expressed in Marathi idiom as having a Mang within one. When on the occasion of an eclipse fears are awakened for the safety of the sun or moon, it is the Mang whose help is sought. He goes among the people claiming their propitiatory gifts, saying: 'Give your gifts that the grasp may be removed. For are not Rahu and Ketu, the enemies who have laid evil hands on the heavenly bodies, themselves Mangs?' Similarly, to their recognized relation with 'dark' worship and with subterranean and demonic influences is to be traced the making of offerings to Mang women on Dasera day and the sinister fact that there are few great buildings erected in pre-British days in this part of India that have not—whether they be temples or forts or palaces—Mang victims built into their foundations.

"The peculiar place that these popular superstitions have given to the Mang community is seen especially in the ceremonies that are sometimes performed for the removal of disease. Frequently when some one is ill, the ill person is consulted and explains the illness as due to the influence of some evil spirit. The one effective prescription in such a case is to call a Mang and give him a dinner. This is not by any means an act of friendliness toward a despised community, but has as its object apparently the propitiation of the demonic power and the removal of the source of the disease from the sick man to its proper habitation.

"With this end in view practices of sympathetic magic, which can be paralleled in the folk lore of many peoples, are employed. Portions of the finger nails or, it may be, fragments of hair of the invalid are secretly mixed with the food to be given to the Mang, and before the sugar water of which he is to partake is given to him the sick man must see his face in it. In this way the evil is supposed to be passed back to where it properly belongs and the disease removed.

Why Jefferson Didn't Have a Dog

Schneider in the Flesh.

It was the privilege of the writer years ago to attend a reception at which Joseph Jefferson spoke on the drama. His treatment of the subject was interesting, the utterance of a man who knew the art of which he spoke. But the most interesting part of the hour came after the completion of the formal address, when an opportunity was given to the audience to ask any questions they wished of Mr. Jefferson. Soon the familiar topic was introduced, the effect of the modern elaboration and realism in stage setting. Mr. Jefferson at once rose to the question. He spoke somewhat rapidly, with a quaint humor and sympathetic charm that were irresistible. He characterized the modern fashion of stage setting as "a tribute to the weakness of the human imagination." "I am often asked," he went on, "why I do not have a real dog Schneider. But if I did none of you would be satisfied. You would go home saying, 'Well, Schneider never looked like that dog.' You love Schneider because you have made him out of a piece of your own heart. And then," meditatively, "if I had a real Schneider some one in the gallery would probably whistle to him at a critical moment, and he would bark and spoil the play, while if he knew his part perfectly and did just what Schneider ought to do—pausing and with his delightful smile—'Schneider would be the hero and not Rip.' Then, with a twinkle of the eye, he summed up the whole matter with the quiet remark, 'Realism with a tail to wag in the wrong place is a dangerous thing.'—New York Post.

Debbling de Crabs.

In the service of a Baltimore family is an old negro cook known as Aunt Sally, and not the least of her achievements is the preparation of sea food.

In the kitchen one day Aunt Sally's nephew, a nine-year-old lad from a point where crabs are seldom seen, was watching in breathless interest the old lady's deviling of a dish of such crustaceans.

"Aunt," asked he after much reflection upon this mysterious point, "does debbl crabs come from de debbl?"

"No, chile," promptly responded Aunt Sally, "but dey is de debbl to make."—St. Louis Republic.

The President's Oath.

The oath of office taken by the incoming president of the United States is the shortest and the simplest required of any ruler on earth. It is prescribed by the constitution and is as follows:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and to the best of my ability, protect, preserve and defend the constitution of the United States."

Her Cooking.

The Doctor: How is your appetite? The Patient: Wretched. The best meal my wife cooks doesn't tempt me. The Doctor: I'm er—do you ever try a meal in a restaurant? (Chill's 'Hot' Herald)

The Diplomatic Room.

One of the most interesting and most visited places in Washington is the diplomatic reception room in the department of state, where the secretary of state transacts his business with the envoys of foreign governments. This room is close to the secretary's office and looks southward to the Potomac. The Washington monument looming up with stately effect at the rear of the room. The room is set apart for the diplomats, who are received in this famous room by the secretary of state or the official who may be acting in his absence. The room itself when not occupied by the foreign representatives is open to the public. In it most of our treaties of peace have been signed, and many have been the notable assemblages gathered within its walls.—New York Press.

A MAN'S GLOVE.

In the Old Days It Served as Proxy For Its Owner.

In the early days everything was not regulated for the people as it is now by the government and the law courts. Europe was still young then, and people had rough and ready means of dealing with one another, of buying and selling or giving goods and property and settling disputes. A glove, as it was very close indeed to a man's hand, came in course of time to be looked upon as taking the place of the hand itself, and sometimes took the man's place and was made to represent him.

For example, to open a fair it was necessary then to have the consent and protection of the great lord in whose country it was going to be held. Those who wished to open the fair would come to the nobleman and petition him to be present. He might be very busy or bored at the idea of having to go, yet he would know that it must be opened or his people would be discontented. So he would say to the leaders of the people: "No, my trusty fellows, I can't open the fair in person, but I will send my glove to do it. You all know my glove. Nobody is one like it in the country. It is the one my lady mother embroidered for me in colored silks and silver wire, and it has a deep velvet fringe. You can hang it above the entrance of your fair grounds as a sign that you are acting with my permission. If any one disputes your right or touches his master's glove I will attend to him. That's all!" So the glove would travel in state to open the fair.—Westminster Gazette.

Ready With His Tongue.

James T. Brady, a prominent member of the New York bar in the last century, was noted for his ready wit. Quick as Mr. Brady was with the readiness of his race for repartee, he sometimes met his match among his own countrymen. He was once examining an unwilling witness who persistently called him Mr. O'Brady. At length, even his proverbial good nature being a little ruffled, he said to the witness: "You need not call me Mr. O'Brady. I've mended my name since I came here and dropped the O." "Have ye, now?" retorted the witness. "Pon my sowl, it's a pity ye didn't mend yer manners at the same time!"

Why He Was on Time.

Beranger was one day complimented by a lady on the punctuality with which he kept his engagements. "It is a pleasure," said she, "to invite you to dinner, for you never make us wait." "I am no longer young, madam," replied the poet, "and experience has taught me one thing—it is dangerous not to arrive at the precise hour, for the guests who are waiting for you will pass the time in discussing your faults."

Spoiled the Evening For Her.

"I suppose you had a perfectly lovely time at the dinner party last night?" "No. Through some mistake they seated me next to my husband."—Chicago Record-Herald.
